Postmaster Maurice Hogan to-be taking in at least $225,000 daily. day urged residents of Sedalia to Is it any wonder new frauds spring report promptly to their post office up every day?" any instances of medical frauds involving use of the mails, or offensive advertising material in-volving apparent medical quackery that enters their homes. Hogan said his suggestion was prompted by newest reports he has received from Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Chief Inspector David H. Stephens that use of the mails for medical quackery is at an all-time high.

The local post office, Postmaster Hogan explained, under instructions from the Postal Inspection Service, turns complaints of medical fraud, as well as all other complaints of other types of mail fraud — which are also welcomed - over to postal inspectors for prompt investigation.

So far this year, postal inspectors have prepared cases for consideration by the Department's General Counsel which, conserva-tively, represent an annual less to the public of $50 million.

Under Federal statutes, postal inspectors are charged with investigating any fraudulent activity in which the U. S. Mails are used. The most prominent fraudulent activity conducted through the mails today is in the field of fake medical cures.

"Mr. Summerfield has reported the promoters and quacks are so persistent that a unit of inspector specialists is maintained in Washington, D. C. to coordinate investigations of these rackets," Hogan noted.

In addition to handling public complaints by the thousands, the local postmaster noted, inspectors take materials offered and submit them for extensive examination by medical and chemical experts. The Department has a working agreement under which it contributes to the salary and expenses of doctors and chemists employed by the Food and Drug Administration for this purpose.

They make tests and examinations to determine whether medical materials and devices offered through the mails are misrepresented.

If the evidence indicates that formal action should be undertaken, a complaint setting forth charges of fraudulent misrepresentation is filed with the Chief Hearing Examiner.

The promoter is named respondent, and arrangements made for him to appear with his attorneys at a formal hearing at which both sides of the case are heard on

If fraudulent use of the mails is proven, a fraud order is issued for the Postmaster General by Post Office Department General Counsel, Abe Goff.

When a fraud order is issued, a promoter can receive no funds through the mail, and for all practical purposes his operations are shut off. All mail sent to him is returned to sender marked "Fraudulent," except that which on its face is clearly not connected with the unlawful enterprise.

In the past 12 months, 46 fraud orders have been issued in medical fraud cases.

'However," Summerfield continued, "rather than attempt to defend the indefensible, 106 persons or firms signed stipulations agreeing to discontinue their questionable enterprise. These phony schemes altogether were known to

Mexico Movie Future Seems Discouraging

By BOB THOMAS

MEXICO CITY &-Though film $2 a day, compared with $21 in quality is better and markets are Hollywood. expanding, the Mexican movie industry faces a rocky future.

This was the report of Luis Sanchez Tello, veteran producer here and coordinator for Hollywood locations. He blamed government-induced monopolies for the sad plight of the movie makers.

There are no big, powerful studios in Mexico-and indeed they are withering away in Hollywood, with a few exceptions. All producers are independents, and they must hustle to put together deals. "The monopolies are squeezing us," said Tello. "Some producers are favored for money-lending while others find it more difficult. And the exhibition of pictures in Mexico is virtually monopolized so we must accept the monopoly's terms."

As a result of the monopoles and rising labor costs. Tello said, Churubusco studios, largest and most modern in Mexico, is slated to shut down.

Tello, a big, friendly man, started in the film business as a young man. He ran away from his Mexican home to work in Hollywood for six years in the '20s. He returned here in 1930 to make the first Mexican sound picture.

Most Mexican productions take two years to return their investment. The exceptions are those with Cantinflas, who is in a class by himself. He has a financing deal with Columbia, which gives him half the profits. Ten-year-old Captinflas films still draw crowds in Mexico City.

Mexicans make about 100 films a year. Average cost: $100,000. Cuba is about the best foreign market for Mexican films. The United States has become increasingly important. Los Angeles (largest city of Mexican population next to Mexico City) and New York (big Puerto Rican and Span-

France Suspends Plan to Give Aid to Tunisia

PARIS (A)-France has suspended all financial aid to Tunisia because of the open support in that former French protectorate for the rebellion in Algeria.

A government announcement last night said Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Faure had notified the Tunisian ambassador two days ago the promised aid would be blocked.

France had planned to extend $34,500,000 in credit to Tunisia for 1956-57. The first installment was to have been furnished this week.

Popular backing for the Algerian nationalists is so widespread in Tunisia that Premier Bourguiba would have difficulty sup pressing it if he wanted to. The Tunisians, Arab blood brothers of the Algerians, gained their independence from France only little more than a year ago.

The Algerians have found "unofficial" refuge and medical aid across the Tunisian frontier. Highplaced figures in the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN) operate freely in Tunis.

The FLN issued a communique in Tunis yesterday saying 52 French troops have been killed in a battle in the Bou-Zegza Mountains in central Algéria. It said two Algerian rebels had been

French headquarters in Algiers issued a communique referring to an engagement in the same region. It said 70 rebels had been killed and gave French losses as 5 dead and 19 wounded.

Of Our Washington Bureau WASHINGTON - To clear away the clouds of confused controversy which enshroud the budget, let's give the record the once over lightly.

And to put the matter in its best light, let's confine the examination to the record as it has been established by leading spokesmen of the Administration. Here we go: On January 16 President Eisenhower submitted his $71.8 billion budget to Congress. "It is a carefully balanced budget," he said, that is "well adapted to the needs of the present and future." The day before, when discussing the budget with reporters, Treas-

We do not have to be critics. We do not need to feel that the artist is substituting for the performer which we might have been. We hear the message of music which lifts us out of the humdrum of daily living. We receive inspiration to live more happily

The voice of God and the words of His ministers have a similar effect on our lives. The sermons and the church services in America lift folk above the materialistic routine of life and inspire people to higher ideals, higher moral standards and more satisfying pleasure in serving God and man.

Tornado Season Still Here Keep calm! It will not help to get tornado is observed may mean the difference between life and death even though there is no universal protection against them except in caves or underground excavations, such as cellars. Regardless, here are a few suggestions since the tornado season may be expected to extend through June:

If you are in open country:

- 1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.
- 2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or

If in a city or town:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from windows.

2. In homes: The southwest corner of the basement usually offers the greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements should find other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar, although a depression, such as a ditch or ravine, can offer some protection. If time permits electricity and heating appliances should be shut off. Doors and windows on the north and east sides of the house may be open to help reduce damage to the building.

If in schools:

1. In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly-supported roofs.

2. In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

If in factories and industrial plants:

On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Employees should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Keep tuned to your radio and television station for latest tornado advisory information which should be devoid of overstatement and have for its purpose temperance in restraint of arousing panic reactions among the populace.

Latins Disappointed Over Monetary Egg

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON-Highest-level diplomatic conference in 178 years of U.S. diplomatic relations was held last June in Panama. More presidents of sovereign states were gathered there to meet with President Eisenhower than anywhere or at any other time in history.

The meeting was greeted with great fanfare in the Latin American press-fanfare deliberately encouraged by American diplomats. Some Latin American presidents who hung back, doubted the advisability of attending, were urged by U.S. ambassadors to be on deck. When the President was willing to leave his hospital bed after an ileitis operation, it was intimated, big things would be happening in Panama. The trip was not merely to convince the American public that he had recovered, diplomats said.

At Panama, a committee was appointed to carry out the long-range President's plan for Pan Americanism. The committee was headed by Ike's brother Milton. It held several meetings, and now, 10 months after the momentus event in Panama, it is bringing forth its momentous recommendations. Most Latin American diplomats had figured the United States would at least set up a fund similar to the Near East doctrine fund to battle communism and develop Latin America. They

Guest Editorial—

JEFFERSON CITY POST-TRIBUNE: The Secrecy Rule. The time may be long in coming, but undoubtedly an enlightened group of Missouri senators will put an end to the foolish committee secrecy rule.

The rule cropped up into the news again this session when all but one of the members of the Senate Judiciary Committee who voted to kill the Missouri criminal code reform bill refused to disclose to a reporter how they voted on the measure

They claimed they are bound by the Senate committee secrecy rule and cannot violate the Senate tradition of not disclosing what occurs in executive sessions of committees. Certainly, it is a foolish tradition and one which ignores the people's right to know. For many years Senate committees have followed the practice of not disclosing how individual members voted on legislation. Although legislators must have their votes recorded on passage of bills, no record was made on how they voted in committees. Criticism of this practice prompted framers of the 1945 Missouri Constitution to attempt to reform the situation by requiring that a "recorded vote" of members be reported by committees whenever they act on bills.

But the present Senate rule interprets the constitutional requirement as meaning that a numerical division be reported in connection with committee votes on how each member votes on legislation, instead of a report showing how each committee member voted. Certainly, the interpretation runs counter to the apparent meaning of the constitutional provision.

Unlike the Senate, most House committees file reports listing the individual votes of their members. This follows long standing democratic pletely counter to the people's right to know tradition of the public's right to know.

The Missouri Senate would do well to end the foolish committee secrecy rule. It runs comabout public business.

watched the money being sent to Poland, Yugoslavia, Saudi Arabia and Southeast Asia, figured a revolving fund of around $100,000,000 was the least that would come out of the unprecedented meeting in Panama. Instead, an annual total of $3,387,700 is recommended, of which the Latin governments themselves will put up almost half. There is also $19,979,000 to fight malaria over a five-year period, but this is contingent on further negotiations with various organizations.

The projects adopted are healthy and worth while, but the amounts to finance them are considered a drop in the bucket by Latin diplomats. It should not have required a high-powered meeting of the greatest number of presidents ever to convene on the American continent, they say, to put across such a program. It could have been adopted by the Pan American union itself.

The projects include: $1,100,000 for expanding the Institute of Agriculture at Turrilba, Costa Rica, to study the effect or nuclear energy on agriculture, and for two other agriculture centers to study the diseases of bananas and cocoa in Ecuador and temperate diseases in Uruguay; $275,000 for the study of workers housing; $500,000 additional for scholarships; $120,000 for technical assistance; $210,000 for public relations; and $90,000 for a nuclear energy agency. These are to be annual expenditures-if each government now approves.

Remarked one Latin American ambassador: "We're not communistic enough to get any real help from the United States."

No Bridge for Panama When President Eisenhower was in Panama he signed an act of Congress providing for a bridge to be built across the Panama Canal at

This bridge had been promised Panamanians for 15 years. Without it they have to ferry across the canal or else cross at the Miraflores locks several miles away. So there was great rejoicing in Panama when President Eisenhower posed for a special photograph alongside his Panamanian host, President Arias, signing the

Before the signing ceremony, Jules Dubois, Latin American correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, asked President Arias for comment.

"I have to look at the bill," Arias replied. "I don't know whether it's an authorization or an appropriation."

Educated in the United States, the President of Panama knew all too well that there was a big difference between an authorization by Congress and an appropriation by Congress. President Arias's skepticism was justified.

Last week the House of Representatives in its mad rush for economy chopped out a $1,000,000 appropriation for beginning the Balboa bridge. The people of Panama will have to ferry across the canal for a few more years.

the Senate. He's been in repeated conferences with him since 1953. Since he might seem the one Eisenhower has to depend on most to get senate agreement on his ideas. Knowland's record of differences with Eisenhower and opposition to some of his policies is almost startling Knowland has no intention of resigning as Senate leader although he has said he will leave the Senate when his term is up next

And Eisenhower has no intention of asking him to step out as Senate leader. Knowland has described his job as one for bringing about an area of agreement in the Senate on the administration's programs.

This is a little puzzling. When he opposes Eisenhower, he's a rallying point for all others who feel the same way. He has become a rallying point for the conservative wing of the Republican party. In 1955 he claimed he had sup-

When the hard palate is involved, and when the soft palate cleft is too large to be repaired through surgery, they have learned to build dentures that will close both clefts. Contrary to the condition a few years ago a large percentage of cleft palate children acquire quite

The cleft has a significant effect on speech. Many people may not have become aware that, during much of their speech, the soft palate makes complete separation between the nasal cavity and the mouth cavity. That closure is very necessary to intelligible speech. Many of our speech sounds are produced by a sudden release of breath pressure that has built up in the mouth cavity. Those sounds are: p, b, t, d, k, g, ch, and j. Others are produced by the escaping of breath under pressure through a small opening in the mouth cavity. Those sounds are: s. z, f, v, th-breath, th-voiced, sh, and zh. If the nasal cavity could not be closed breath pressure in the mouth would be impossible. In addition to the sounds just described, vowel sounds are produced with the palate closed, or nearclosed. If the palate were not

Blowing should begin with The past ten years or so have easy activities. Balloons are likely to be too difficult. Bubbles provide easy blowing: Blowing out candles would tollow. A very good drill is provided by a gadget that provides the separation of blowing through the mouth from blowing through the nose. A box about two inches by four inches, open on both sides will suffice. It will need a divider in the middle, two inches from each end, if the box is four inches long. There is thus created two separated openings through the box. A feather, or other light substance is placed on the floor of each compartment. The trick is to place the divider on the upper lip, and blow the feather out of the lower compartment that is in front of the mouth, and leave the feather in the upper compartment that is in front of the nose.

The therapist win work directly on sound production. He will begin with the "plosive" sounds, the first list above. Detailed discussion of methods for correcting sound errors will appear in a later article.

Note To Readers: Cerebral Palsy and other conditions that affect the ability of speech muscles to function, are causes of speech deficiency. It would be difficult to give instructions to parents that would be useful in developing speech. That subject will not. therefore, be treated in this series of articles. Pettis Clubs Observe 4-H Day, May 26

This Sunday, May 26, the Pettis County 4-H clubs will observe National 4-H Sunday in their communities. Actually, not all observances will be held this Sunday, as some of the 30 4-H clubs in Pettis County have already held their 4-H Sunday programs.

Rural Life Sunday often called 4-H Sunday, is the fifth Sunday after Easter. It has its roots in the Rogation Days and is a day set apart for emphasizing the meaning of Christianity for rural life; for the invocation of God's blessing upon the seed, fruits of the soil, and cultivators of the earth; and for the consideration of justice for agriculture and the spiritual vales of rural life. It was first observed in 1929 at the suggestion of the International Association of Agricultural Missions Council, Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and many religious bodies.

Actually, there is no official 4-H Sunday. Club members and 4-H clubs throughout the land have observed Rural Life Sunday so generally that they often speak of it as 4-H Sunday.

Many 4-H clubs hold services inket dinner and an afternoon on the stand in a big "case." program.

In many cases the 4-H members the Sunday morning service.

Whatever it is you want most from life will come to you far more readily if you are attractive. It may be a job or a man or both. This doesn't mean that you must be a raving beauty to achieve happiness. As a matter of fact, many great beauties have known very little happiness. It means that careful attention to figure, hair and skin can make you into a lovely person even though you do not possess true beauty at the outset.
